

Jeffrey Closson
Senior Associate Engagement
Lead

Jeff has over 30 years' of experience developing, managing and directing enterprise-level technology and business transformation projects. He has filled a wide range of roles including project director, project manager, quality assurance manager, analyst, and application developer. He has worked on projects at numerous state and county government agencies in Illinois, Texas and Washington State.

Jeff excels at providing the strategic vision, leadership and focus to projects and organizations combining technical expertise, business knowledge and communication skills. He has extensive knowledge of developing and implementing software and project management methodologies across a wide range of business areas, most recently integrating Organizational Change Management (OCM) into a $75m state program to ensure acceptance of enterprise level initiatives.

Jeff has a Bachelor's degree in Computer Information Systems from Graceland University and is a Project Management Institute-certified Project Management Professional.