

Ahmed Botan
Senior Business Analyst

Ahmed has 15 years of experience providing IT services to multiple state and local government agencies. His extensive experience in the public sector equipped him to provide superior client and citizen-centric services.

Ahmed's abilities to quickly learn new domains, work closely with clients and team members, and adhere to strict processes and personal standards ensures he is always capable of meeting the demands of his current role; whether it be a project manager ensuring the success of a project, business analyst eliciting requirements, or scrum master ensuring the success of an entire team. He is also acknowledged for his communicative talents, unparalleled analytical skills, and a unique ability to creatively and innovatively solve problems.

Ahmed has an MBA from Hamline University in Minnesota. He also holds certifications in Business Analysis from the International Institute of Business Analysis (IIBA), Project Management from the PMI, a certified Scrum Master, and a Lean Six Sigma Greenbelt from the University of Washington.