

Elizabeth Gates Powell
OCM Consultant

Elizabeth brings over 13 years of consulting and project management experience, specializing in Organizational Change Management. She has led large-scale change management projects and transformational programs for both for-profit and not-for-profit clients across a number of industries. Known as a people-focused leader who builds strong relationships with her clients and colleagues, Elizabeth also has an innate eye for quality and risk which she employs on her projects to help clients successfully navigate change and achieve their desired objectives.

Outside of work, Elizabeth loves to spend time with her family and friends, particularly her husband and young son. She leads an active lifestyle and is always up for going for a walk. Elizabeth lives in Chicago but loves to travel both domestically and internationally. When traveling, she likes to sample the local cuisine, particularly the desserts. If there's carrot cake on the menu, she will order it!
